

How Many Miles Bmw Last

How Many Miles Bmw Last - I drive my BMW hard almost every day.. 214 miles a day and once a week I like to hold it to the floor and see what it could do.. cuts out at 129 miles per hour.. I have 369,000 miles on an 89 325i..To date the longest lasting BMW I have seen had 200,000+ but it was a vehicle that needed maintenance often. It is all in how you drive your car and how you keep it.||||If you change the oil every 3000-5000 miles, a car can last up to 300,000 - 400,000 miles.BMW if taken care of will last a very long time. When I was younger all my BMW's were over 200,000 miles and never had an issue (besides the normal wear and tear stuff). The vehicle you are looking at has the N52 engine in both of them.Many people grew up with this mentality because yes, after 50,000 miles you might need new brakes, a new alternator etc. and furthermore the cars of yesterday were not designed to last for 10 years. They rusted through and the suspensions wore out to the point that they were just clanking old tankers.